

HAIG PRAISES 27TH IN CABLE TO O'RYAN

"Countless Homes in Europe Happier for What You Have Done," He Wires.

MORE UNITS DUE TO-DAY

City Will See Old Seventh Parade Twice—Series of Honor Dances.

Before going to New Jersey yesterday to inspect Camp Merritt, where the 107th Infantry is quartered, Major-Gen. O'Ryan received this cable message from Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig:

"In the name of your comrades in the British army I send to you and all ranks of the Twenty-seventh American Division our heartfelt greetings on your safe return. You can tell those who today welcome you in your own homes that countless homes in Europe are the happier for what you have done, and that the Old World will never forget her debt of gratitude to America."

Gen. O'Ryan replied:

"Many thanks for your kind cablegram of congratulation and greeting to the Twenty-seventh Division. The distinguished courages and determination during the dark days of the war and their modesty and generosity in their relations with the people of this country and high regard. We shall always remember with pride our service with the British army under your command in the great war of the 1914-18."

The last of the Twenty-seventh men are due here on the transport Seattle on March 13, according to a despatch from Washington. This will give ample time to have everything in apple pie order for parade day, March 25.

Troops Arrive Here To-day.

The units due to-day are: On the Mount Vernon, scheduled to dock at 7 A. M., the 102d Ammunition, Sanitary and Supply train, the 102d Engineers, scheduled to dock at 2 P. M., the Sanitary Detachment, Headquarters Detachment and Second Battalion (Companies E and F) of the 102d Engineers. They will go to Camp Mills.

The transport America, due on Thursday with the Fifty-second Field Artillery Brigade headquarters and the 104th, 105th and 106th Field Artillery regiments will get a harbor reception almost equal to the furs made over the Lexington last week. These artillery units were part of the Twenty-seventh Division, but fought with the American forces in the Meuse-Argonne and St. Mihiel offensives with the infantry and machine gunners attached to the Hindenburg line with the British. The Mayor's committee will send the Patrol, the Corporation and the Queens down the bay to meet the America. Tickets may be had at room 602, Hall of Records.

On the Seattle, due March 19, are the 104th Machine Gun Battalion, complete with 12 officers and 240 men, 10 officers and 244 men of the 107th Infantry. The battleship Missouri, due March 18, has 24 officers and 724 men of the 104th Machine Gun Battalion. The city will have a chance to see the 107th Infantry (the old Seventh, New York National Guard) parade twice. It will not only march as part of the Twenty-seventh Division on March 25, but on its way to the Seventh Regiment Armory from Camp Merritt on the preceding day will be the center of a celebration all its own. The veterans of the Seventh will form the escort of honor, and the members of the Seventh commissioned into other units for the war (there are 1,000 of them, and many are now back in New York) will participate. Major General Daniel Appleton, for twenty-seven years Colonel of the Seventh, will be grand marshal, with Samuel W. Fairchild, ex-president of the Union League Club, as his chief of staff.

Review at Union League.

The parade will be reviewed at the Union League Club by Brig-Gen. C. I. DeVos, now commanding the Fifty-third Brigade of the Twenty-seventh Division, but who was Colonel of the 107th in the fighting. The paraders will march up Fifth avenue as far as Sixty-ninth street, turning east to the armory of the Seventh Regiment at Sixty-sixth street and Lexington avenue. As the friends of the other regiments are planning to celebrate when they too come to the city on March 24, the day before promises to be almost as much of an occasion as the day itself.

"Khai and Blue" dances, with men of the Twenty-seventh Division as guests of honor, will be given by the War Camp Community Service at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory on March 13, 15, 19, 22 and 29.

An announcement on the bulletin board at division headquarters in the Hillmore says that by order of Gen. O'Ryan the paraders of March 23 will start at 11th street and march down Fifth avenue. The Mayor's Committee has many reasons for believing that it would be better to start downtown and march north. There will be a conference on this matter in a day or two.

A certain number of grand stand tickets for men in uniform may be had by application at the stand of the Mayor's Committee, Forty-third street and Broadway, on any day between noon and 2 P. M. and between 6 and 8 P. M.

BAKER AND DANIELS MAY WELCOME 26TH

Gov. Coolidge Planning to Greet Troops in Boston.

Boston, March 10.—Gov. Coolidge telegraphed to-day to Secretary Baker and Secretary Daniels invitations to come here to assist in welcoming the Twenty-sixth Division in April.

A radiogram announcing that the 101st French Motor Battery, the first unit of the Twenty-sixth (Yankee) Division to sail for home, would reach New York next Thursday on the steamship Iowan was received at Northeastern Department headquarters to-day. In reply Major-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, who commanded the Twenty-sixth in France, sent the following:

"Welcome home, stouthearted lads. Trust you go to Devens for great welcome on arrival in April. Pleasant travels in Boston. Advised Governor of Maine."

The battery consists of 177 men. The battleship Nebraska, from Brest with 1,100 returning soldiers, docked there to-day. The first warship transport to enter this port. Her passengers included Battery F of the Fifty-fourth Artillery and many casual companies made up largely of New England men.

With the exception of nine stretcher cases, which were taken to a hospital, the soldiers entrained for Camp Devens upon their landing. With them were twelve Y. M. C. A. secretaries.

The transport Westlake, which was due in Philadelphia to-day with casual troops from France, has been diverted to this port, according to word received by Col. A. W. Yates, debarkation officer here. In addition to returning soldiers, the Westlake brings a cargo of freight, to be unloaded here.

SAW FOUR MEN DIE, BUT HE CARRIED ON

Corporal John Hammond of the Old 69th Gets Cross for Daring.

JERSEY MEN DECORATED

Courage in Action Rewarded by Special Citations Just Issued.

The Distinguished Service Cross has been awarded to Corporal John Hammond of the old Sixty-ninth Regiment for performing a mission demanding extraordinary daring in action near Landres-et-St. Georges, France, on October 15, 1918. According to the official citation given out yesterday Corporal Hammond volunteered to carry an important position sketch to headquarters after seeing four liaison men killed making the attempt. He not only reached his destination but succeeded in returning to his own post, being under a most severe fire. His home is at 183 St. Marks avenue, Brooklyn.

Sergeant James A. Claffin, Medical Detachment, Fifth Machine Gun Battalion, in action near Thibautout, France, on September 13, 1918, displayed great courage and devotion to duty in giving first aid to the wounded and in superintending their removal to a place of safety. He lives in Livingston, N. J.

Private Michael Donaldson of Haverstraw, N. Y., on October 14 rescued six severely wounded men from an exposed position, making six trips to the crest of a hill in order to carry the men to the rear.

Sergeant Anthony J. Tavano of Dunellen Lake, N. J., Bugler Jacob F. Cline of Union, Private Joseph Kanaley of Orange and Private Peter T. Monahan of Jersey City, all of the 111th Machine Gun Battalion, received Distinguished Service Crosses for voluntarily leaving places of safety during an intense bombardment near Verdun on October 11 to carry letters of wounded after the bombardment had been killed or disabled. Cline and Monahan were both killed while engaged in their work of mercy.

MOURNING MOTHER CAMP MILLS VISITOR

Knows Two Are Dead and Asks for News of Third.

Two thousand or more anxious relatives of the soldiers of the Twenty-seventh Division kept the telephone operator at Camp Mills going at top speed yesterday looking up soldiers who had not been fortunate enough to leave the camp on issues. The New York friends of soldiers only appeared at the Y. W. C. A. and the Catholic Visitor House in small numbers. This was due to masses having been obtained for home visits. Those in camp last night witnessed some exciting basketball games, which had been arranged by Ward Brown and Captain Cornelius Roddy. Teams were from Troy, Wilkesbarre and Scranton.

Mrs. T. Hammer of 338 East 136th street who lost one son on the Rochester and another killed with the 165th Infantry, went to the camp looking for some of the boys of Company 12, 106th Infantry, of the Twenty-seventh Division, of which her son William was a member. Various reports had been received as to whether he was seriously wounded or among the missing. Friends of the youth who know him told his mother that they had last seen him fall while going over the top.

John McCormack will sing for the soldiers in the large auditorium tomorrow afternoon. On Friday amateur and professional boxers will entertain the soldiers.

Buffalo to Return Flags.

Colors Carried to France Will Go to Union League.

Special Despatch to The Sun.

CAMP MILLS, March 10.—In fulfillment of a pledge made by Col. James A. Moss, March 28, 1918, when the Union League Club presented regimental colors to his regiment, the 367th Negro "Buffaloes,"
